PROVINCIAL JADE PICKLING JAR

$1,480

c. 1900 • Tianjin, China • Ceramic • Collection #BJH092

H: 20.0" Dia: 14.0"

Originally used for pickling foods, this early 20th century ceramic jar is coated inside and out with a subdued jade green glaze. The wide-mouth jar has high shoulders and a rounded, oblong form that tapers to the base. Shaped by paddling, the jar has a wonderfully irregular surface, further textured by vertical lines drawn in the outer slip layer. Speckled with imperfections, this tall glazed pot exemplifies the timeless appeal of handcrafted pottery.
