ENAMELED HAT STAND WITH TWO WOMEN

$980

c. 1900 • China • Porcelain, Enamel • Collection #CDPAG004

H: 11.25" Dia: 5.0"

Brilliantly colored with bold enamels, this porcelain hat stand was once used by a Qing-dynasty gentleman to display his caps while they weren't in use. This stand is decorated in the style of famille rose, a technique that emerged during the 18th century that employs opaque overglaze enamels in pinks, reds, blues, and greens.

The cylindrical stand is hand-painted with a scene of courtly women dressed in colorful flowing robes in a lush garden landscape. Standing underneath a willow tree and surrounded by prunus branches and delicate birds, these two serene women demonstrate an idealized peaceful lifestyle. Continued...
